TOWN WARRANT

THE STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

[L. S.]

To the Inhabitants of the Town of Barnstead in the County of Belknap in said State, qualified to vote in Town Affairs:

You are hereby notified to meet at the Town Hall in said Barnstead on Tuesday, the thirteenth day of March next, at nine of the clock in the forenoon, to act upon the following subjects:

1. To choose all necessary Town Officers for the year ensuing.
2. To raise such sums of money as may be necessary to defray town charges for the ensuing year and make appropriation of the same.
3. To see if the Town will raise and appropriate a sum of money for the Laconia Hospital (by request).
4. To see whether beer or other lawful alcoholic beverages shall be manufactured or sold locally, as is permitted under Chapter 99, Public Laws of the State of New Hampshire, 1933.
5. To see if the Town will vote to allow a discount of three per cent on property taxes paid on or before the first Saturday of July next.
6. To see if the Town will raise and appropriate the sum of $200 for both Fire Companies.
7. To see if the Town will raise and appropriate a sum of money for a different piano to be used in the Town Hall.
8. To transact any other business which may legally come before the meeting.

LIBRARY REPORT

We respectfully present the following report of the Barnstead Free Public Library for the year 1933.

Thirty-nine books have been bought to satisfy the desire for good reading of the patrons, from children to adults, the children and young people being given much consideration in selecting books. These were placed on the shelves in time to observe educational week. The number purchased was less than in former years, as other expenses have been more this year.

Mrs. George Locke gave one book.

In the summer an electric pump was installed, which supplies a long felt need. The pump is a Fairbanks Morse type and was put in by Linn Dennett.

Several people without work were hired to dig the ditch leading from the Library to the river. It seemed to be an opportunity to give work to some men who were unemployed in town.

The value of good books read in childhood contains an influence that should give pleasure to the readers all through their lives.

The Library will be open Tuesday and Saturday afternoons from 2 until 5 o'clock and Saturday evenings from 7 until 9, except holidays.

MYRA A. GEORGE,
Librarian

MERTON JENKINS,
MRS. CARRIE SEWARD,
MRS. NELLIE BUNKER,
Library Trustees

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the Barnstead School Board and Citizens:

In submitting herewith my eleventh annual report as superintendent of schools I shall make but few comments on the usual statistics in order that emphasis may be placed on a few fundamental and vital problems that must be met in the future.

TEACHERS

The pupils have been taught by well-trained and capable teachers and they have made good progress along the lines their activities have been directed. No changes in the teaching force occurred during the school year. The following is a list of the names of the present teachers, together with their positions, salaries, and so forth:

Teacher	Position	Salary	En- rollment
Beulah M. Tasker	Parade, Prin. & Grades 5-8	$950 (—10%)	17
Dorothy W. Boland	Parade, Grades 1-4	750	17
Merial A. Smith	Center, Prin. & Grades 5-8	1050 (—10%)	20
Bertha A. Royce	Center, Grades 1-4	925 (—10%)	23
Flora I. Ide	South	900 (—10%)	14
Alice L. Powers	Shackford's Corner	700	11
Doris M. Carpenter	Beauty Hill	900 (—10%)	14
Total present enrollment			116

INSTRUCTION

The new system of reading which has been used for the past two years has this fall been extended into the third grade and continues to be highly satisfactory. The use of the work-books, which is a part of this system, helps greatly in solving the problem of keeping the primary children profitably employed. With this system children are learning to read with enjoyment by themselves.

Closely related to the development of reading abilities through the new system of reading is the use of current events papers in all grades except the first. These papers, which are entitled "My Weekly Readers" for grades three to seven and "The Junior Review" for grade eight, give an opportunity for valuable practice in the mechanics of silent reading and contain material that is most helpful to children in forming worthwhile attitudes towards and concepts of our present social and economic problems. Pupils and teachers are very much interested in them and many parents have spoken to me of the value of this material.

New language books have been put into use in all schools in grades three to six, resulting in a marked increase in pupil interest.

There have been few changes in the methods of instruction in the other subjects.

ROLL OF PERFECT ATTENDANCE

The following twelve pupils, two more than last year, were neither absent nor tardy during the school year ending June 30, 1933: Roland Bunker, Jr., Ernest Davis, Marguerite Davis, Dorothy M. Foster, (4) Grace Gray, Lloyd Hanson, Warren Heywood, Felix Jenisch, Reinhold Knirsch, (2) Vilma Knirsch, Mildred MacPherson, and Shirley MacPherson.

A figure before a pupil's name indicates the number of consecutive years he has had perfect attendance.

PROMOTIONS TO HIGH SCHOOL

The following sixteen pupils received certificates of admission to high school in June: Lillian Brown, Melvin Caswell, Marjorie Crossett, Paul Golden, William Golden, Lloyd Hanson, Fred Hillsgrove, Felix Jenisch, Helen Jenisch, Ruth Knirsch, Flora Locke, Florence Newcomb, Beverly Smart, Leonard Tasker, Anna Walker, and Alice Weeks.

Only three of these pupils did not enter high school last fall.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

Forty-eight Barnstead tuition pupils, as compared with forty-four last year, were enrolled in secondary schools last fall, as follows:

Alton High School: Robert Carr, Fred Hillsgrove, and Alice Weeks.

Colebrook Academy: Flora Young.

Farmington High School: Catherine Pidgeon, Charles Pidgeon, Helen Pidgeon, and Harry Tanner.

Penacook High School: Evelyn Cleveland.

Pittsfield High School: Marjorie Bennett, Dorothy Canfield, Retta Canfield, Melvin Caswell, Mable Cate, Helen Chandler, Kathleen Chandler, Marjorie Crossett, Wilbur Crossett, Dorothy Dennett, Oliver Dennett, Ruth Dennett, Samuel Feuerstein, Norman Foss, Paul Golden, William Golden, Louise Gray, Lloyd Hanson, Willard Hanson, Frances Heywood, Madeline Hill, Felix Jenisch, Helen Jenisch, Altha Kenison, Doris Kenison, Dorothy Kidder, Ruth Knirsch, Flora Locke, Ethel McAllister, Joseph Nutter, Doris Parkey, Beverly Smart, Leonard Tasker, Vernol Thompson, Charles Thyng, Harrison Thyng, Earle Yeaton Ruth Yeaton, and Frank Ziebarth.

Of these forty-eight pupils three have already left and six more are seniors. There are now seven Barnstead pupils in the eighth grade. It would appear that about forty-five will be in high school next year for whom about $3400 will be needed for tuition.

Perhaps Barnstead people would be interested in the fact that of the two pupils in Pittsfield High School who received all A's for the first semester this year one was a Barnstead pupil, Ruth Yeaton.

HEALTH SUPERVISION

The report of the School Nurse, Ruth B. Whitcomb, shows that of the 126 Barnstead pupils examined during the year eleven were at least 10% underweight, ten had defective vision, three defective hearing, seventy-seven defective teeth, nine diseased tonsils, six adenoids, ten enlarged glands, and 124 had been vaccinated. The two unvaccinated pupils were properly excused by the Board of Health. During the year six cases of pediculosis were reported and fourteen cases of skin disease. In May, 1933, thirty-seven pupils received diphtheria immunization at clinics held at the schoolhouses.

During the late winter and early spring free federal milk was furnished the needy children.

On March 29, 1933, sixty-eight pupils at the Parade and Center schools were given audiometer hearing tests. Three of these pupils were found to have defective hearing.

The report also shows that the following defects had been corrected since the previous examination: four cases of defective vision, twenty-eight cases of defective teeth, and two of diseased tonsils. Nearly all of the defects reported are correctable. Is it really necessary that these children continue to carry their health handicaps? I do not believe it is, with the medical and nursing service that is now available.

CENSUS, SEPTEMBER 30, 1933

Number of resident children 5 to 16 in local schools	115
Number 5 to 16 in high schools outside the district	31
Number 5 to 16 in elementary schools outside the district	14
<hr/>
Total number 5 to 16 in some school.....	160
Number 5 to 8 not in school	11
Number 8 to 14 not in school	1
Number 14 to 16 not in school.....	7
<hr/>
Total number of children 5 to 16 not in some school	19
<hr/>
Total number of resident children 5 to 16.....	179

This total is eleven less than last year's and two greater than for the year before that.

STATISTICS FOR THE YEAR ENDING JUNE 30, 1933

Number of pupils registered.....	142
Average number of half days schools were in session (State ave. 353.37)	350.6
Average membership	127.38
Average attendance	120.85
Aggregate number half days all pupils were in school	42381
Per cent of attendance (State ave., 95.13)	94.87
Average number half days each pupil was in school	332.71
Pupils not absent nor tardy.....	12
Cases of tardiness.....	188
Average number tardinesses per pupil (State ave., 0.90)	1.48
Non-resident pupils	0
Pupils transported at district expense.....	13
Visits by superintendent.....	122
Average number visits by superintendent per teacher	17.43
Visits by citizens	183
Visits by Board members.....	10
Meetings of School Board.....	15
Number of pupils promoted.....	121
Number not promoted.....	7
Per cent of non-promotions (State ave., 6.5)....	5.5

The increase in the number of visits by citizens over the previous year is commendable and is encouraging to teachers and superintendent.

FINANCES

The financial estimate for next year is about the same as for this. Every expenditure during the past year has been carefully weighed before being made. Very little has been done in the way of improvements to buildings and equipment and no special appropriation for such is asked for next year. The School Board and Superintendent have tried to get federal aid through the Civil Works Administration for school use but all allotments of federal money to Barnstead have been used for roads and other projects so that no funds have been available for schools.

REORGANIZATION OF THE SUPERVISORY UNION

The New Hampshire Legislature, at its last session, required the elimination of some of the supervisory unions in the state. In the reorganization by the State Board of Education that followed, Gilmanton was removed from the Pittsfield Union and Loudon was added. This change became effective July 1, 1933. As the legislature also required that more supervisory unions be discontinued next year, when Superintendent Henry S. Roberts of the Suncook Union resigned on August 31, 1933, the State Board of Education divided his union among the neighboring unions, putting the school districts of Allentown and Pembroke onto the Pittsfield Union. This change became effective September 1, 1933. This supervisory union now consists of the school districts of Pittsfield, Allentown, Barnstead, Chichester, Loudon, and Pembroke. This large increase in territory, teachers and pupils has made it necessary for the superintendent to spend less time in each school than formerly but the added load has been somewhat lessened by the providing of some clerical assistance in the superintendent's office. It is likely that, because of the policy of increasing the size of the supervisory unions which the legislature forced upon the State Board of Education, this supervisory union will continue for some time with about its present size.

FACING THE FUTURE

When a group of small boys gather to play baseball in a vacant lot or a neighbor's pasture they first decide on the location of the home plate and first base. After a few minutes' play they may wonder if first base is in the best place. Our boys and girls in school have run well from home plate to first base but it may be worth our while to wonder if first base is in the best place if the goals we are setting up for them are the most desirable.

There is no question that the kind of life for which our present educational system was designed to train is radically different from the life American people find themselves now living or from that which they are likely to live during the next few decades. No one can tell with any degree of certainty what problems will be faced by the children now in our schools when they are adults, but our present-day leaders are unanimous in the opinion that those problems will be radically different from those the present and past generations have been facing. The best we can do is to look to these leaders for the determination of our objectives, so I respectfully request that you give your attention to some of the remarks relative to education made recently by President Roosevelt and some of his closest advisers, and to what it seems to me are some of the most vital implications of those remarks to our local schools.

President Roosevelt recently said, "Our present educational provisions do not meet the needs of all children up to sixteen. Newer, more significant, types of preparation for satisfactory living must be evolved in our school system, so that if we prohibit the employment of children up to sixteen, we may at the same time provide fruitful experiences to fill these years and turn out more valuable citizens to the State and to industry when they do enter on their productive years." There are too many vital things today for our children to learn to make it profitable for them to learn things just for the sake of knowing them. One of the great weaknesses in our present-day social order is the inefficiency of so many homes in the proper training and care of children. Why do we spend the time of the future mothers in teaching them how to figure bank discount, which they will never use, and teach them nothing about budgeting the family income or the relative values of fresh and canned orange juice when they would use such knowledge all their lives? Why do we teach boys whether to use who or whom in this sentence, "He is fortunate who or whom the king favors," and make no provisions for teaching them the value of direct sunlight in healthy growth?

George H. Dern, Secretary of War, recently stated, "In a country where the people rule they must be enlightened in order to rule wisely and well. It is the task of the teacher to enlighten them, and hence it depends upon the teacher whether or not this country shall have good government in the next generation." I ask you then, "What kind of teachers are needed?" Is the ability of one to do examples in arithmetic without mistakes worth more than the ability of another to get children to direct their own activities, both independently and collectively, happily and intelligently? As Claude A. Swanson, Secretary of the Navy, stated in a recent report, "Ambition lies dormant in the young mind until some teacher fans the fires of aspiration and makes them flame with the hope of achievement."

The enlarged responsibilities of the schools are in the mind of Harry L. Hopkins, Administrator, Federal Emergency Relief, when he says, "There is a responsibility for developing a program for leisure time. After all, we are going to acquire some new values. The day for people to make enormous sums of money is over. A new situation has developed. School people will have to teach something more than making a living." Music, art, literature, and games have important places in the schools of today.

Whose duty is it to give the child an opportunity to receive an education and see to it that he makes use of the chance? Jesse M. Jones, Chairman, Reconstruction Finance Corporation, says, "The enlightened world, after centuries of progress, has concluded that every child is entitled to the opportunity for education. Failure to grasp this opportunity is one of the greatest handicaps to which anyone may subject himself, no matter what line of endeavor he may intend to enter." It is the duty of organized society, or government, to see that the child, every child, is educated to the limit of his capacity.

Does the education of yesterday fit the needs of today and tomorrow "In a rapidly changing world with a rapidly increasing body of significant human knowledge, education cannot be static," recently said Arthur E. Morgan, Chairman, Tennessee Valley Authority. The solutions we have worked out for our old problems are not sufficient for present or future problems because the problems we are now facing are not like those of the past. If our society is to endure, our schools must change with the changes in our social order. The reading, writing, and arithmetic that met our needs a generation ago will not meet the needs of the next generation. Our society is getting more complex and our schools must be broadened to meet its needs.

CONCLUSION

In closing, I wish to thank the School Board, teachers and other citizens for their co-operation during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

LESTER B. BADGER,
Superintendent of Schools
